- Tuesday 2 October
- 6:45-8:15pm

- Nearest Tube
- Wandsworth Town Station via Vauxhall Tube (Victoria)

Prepare to have your perception of reality severely distorted. ‘Encounter’, a joint exhibition by Alison Stolwood & Radhika Agarwala, takes two very distinct components of the world in which we live, Nature & Technology, plonks them in the arty equivalent of The Hadron Collider (in this case the imaginations of two talented artists) and presses the start button. Cue major explosion. In this new reality, we find butterflies, birds and traditional folklore merging with gold leaf, bronze, montage and digital photography. And to add another dimension to this visual feast, we're observing these elements through the eyes of two artists from two very different cultures, Alison is British and Radhika is Indian, making this fusion all the more fascinating. Alison, Radhika & the show's curator Kristin Hjellegjerde will be joining us for a cracking evening of chatter and giving us a private tour of their show. Brillo pads.
