

London's best fine art graduates take part in online White Cube gallery exhibition

ES standard.co.uk/culture/white-cube-fine-art-graduate-exhibition-online-a4494536.html

July 10, 2020

Works by 20 of London's most talented fine art graduates are being displayed in a new online exhibition.

The White Cube today launched the month-long show, called Tomorrow: London, featuring graduates of Fine Art Masters courses from Central Saint Martins, Goldsmiths, Royal College of Art, Royal Academy Schools and Slade School of Art.

Works in the exhibition cover a range of topics from identity politics, decolonialisation, shared and personal histories to environmental issues.

The 20 graduates were selected by members of White Cube's curatorial team, including its director Irene Bradbury. Viewers can buy the pieces on show, with all sales proceeds given to the artist.

White Cube has three galleries internationally – in Bermondsey, south London, Mason's Yard in St. James's and in Hong Kong's Central district.

The exhibition is on display at whitecube.com